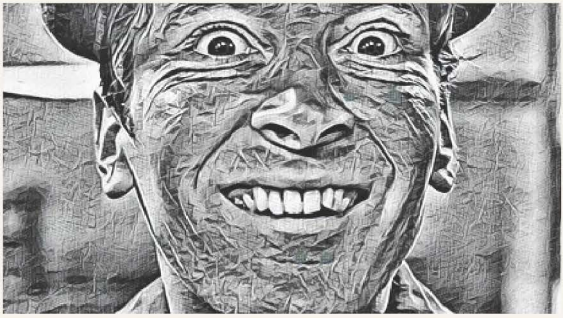
Smalllist

Three items, two sentences, one image.



Oooh'd have thought?

Oooh matron

Bawdy catchphrase of yesteryear Carry On films. Still contemporarily suitable for any mild innuendo, but similar 70s phraseology such as dolly bird should be avoided.

You only get an ooh with Typhoo

Strapline for 1980s middle market British tea lovers everywhere. Such luminaries as Cilla Black and Frankie Howerd did not beg to differ.

Oooh Betty

Frank Spencer's unsurpassable legacy to us all. The most famous use of the name Betty in the history of the universe.

Do Id Yourself: No. 3

Eggsploring Planet Oeuf

Intrepid traveller? Global citizen?

Mark your travel adventures in style by taking the ultimate travel companion.

Simply purchase a small egg - a child's character toy, play food mock-up, rubber joke egg or similar - and pack your new friend in your suitcase.

Once at your destination take your friend out with you to share the fun. Photos optional.

You can't avoid the oviod!

One of the islanders, Jimmy Joseph, said: "Because we believe that he is the son of our god, meeting him is just wonderful." Once they had returned to Tanna, the delegation relayed the somewhat cryptic message they said they had been given by the Duke of Edinburgh to their chief: "When it is warm, I will send a message. At the moment, it is cold in England."
